

Birds

Great Britain hosts a vibrant tapestry of wildlife, with observers recording over 600 bird species in the wild. This impressive number spans a wide spectrum, ranging from common garden visitors to majestic coastal seabirds.

How many of these birds can you name?

Common blackbird (Turdus merula) male	Common buzzard (Buteo buteo)	Common moorhen (Gallinula chloropus)	Common swift (Apus apus)

Common pheasant (Phasianus colchicus)	Common cuckoo (Cuculus canorus)	Mute swan (Cygnus olor)	Common tern (Sterna hirundo)

Chaffinch (Fringilla coelebs)	Common kestrel (Falco tinnunculus)	Common crane (Grus grus)	Common sandpiper (Actitis hypoleucos)

Barn owl (Tyto alba)	Common snipe (Gallinago gallinago)	Magpie (Corvidae)	Eurasian jay (Garrulus glandarius)

Black grouse (Tetrao tetrix)	Common starling (Sturnus vulgaris)	Eurasian blue tit (Cyanistes caeruleus)	Black-legged kittiwake (Rissa tridactyla)